THE CULTURAL CONTEXTS OF DISEASE PREVENTION

The Case of Bile Duct Cancer in Northeast Thailand

Rachel Harrison, SOAS
KOI PLA – RAW FISH SALAD
CYPRINID FISH
Raw fish dishes could give you liver cancer

By Chukwuma Muanya, Assistant Editor | 30 June 2017 | 4:05 am
METACERCARIAE
LIVER FLUKE
KHON KAEN, ISAN
CASCAP, KHON KAEN
PRAZIQANTEL
FLUKE FREE THAILAND
CASCAP SCREENING EVENT
EDUCATION AND TRAINING
EDUCATION
UNIFORMS
"RAW ATTITUDES"
ENTERTAINMENT
BHUMIBOL ADULYADEJ
SOUL OF THE NATION
KING RAMA V (1868-1910)

The reforms instituted by King Chulalongkorn beginning in 1892 that aimed at creating a centralized state led to a radical devaluation in the current political order as it existed for large parts of the population of the country. [Keyes, 2014: 36]

The peasantry in northeast Thailand found their freedom of action increasingly restricted by Siamese officials. [ibid. 40]
NEW ENEMIES OF THAINESS
[RED/ISAN] BUFFALOES
PUBLIC HEALTH CAMPAIGNS
FOOD SHARING - INFECTION DILUTION

NO FOOD SHARING
LOWER PREVALENCE – HIGHER INFECTION INTENSITY
HIGHER INFLAMMATION RISK

FOOD SHARING
HIGHER PREVALENCE – LOWER INFECTION INTENSITY
LOWER INFLAMMATION RISK
MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACHES
LISTENING
THE ROLE OF THE ARTS
APICHATPONG WEERASETHAKUL
(AKA ‘JOE’)
UNCLE BOONMEE
SYNDROMES AND A CENTURY
SYNDROMES AND A CENTURY